
Collaborative Records Management - Whitepaper

Posted by Mario Boutet - 2008/01/22 15:59

Traditional file (or records) management techniques using paper files form the basis of many organisations' record-keeping practices.

However paper files have a number of limitations including the difficulty of sharing and working collaboratively upon these files, especially in distributed organisations.

The Collaborative Records Management whitepaper covers how DocBanq can be used for collaborative file management in a variety of organisations.

=====