
How can we ensure 'compliance'?

Posted by Mario Boutet - 2008/01/23 14:35

'Compliance' means very different things for different industries - for the public sector it might mean compliance to ISO15489, for biomedical it might mean compliance to FDA GMP, for financial service organisations it might mean FSRA compliance. DocBanq is a tool that supports compliance with standard ways of managing documents and records, but it must fit into a broader policy and procedure framework.

This framework might be trivial or it might be more complex - the key is that DocBanq recommends working with industry domain experts to achieve compliance outcomes.

=====